What should I watch for while using this medicine?

Visit your doctor for regular check-ups. See your doctor if your symptoms do not get better or if they get worse. If you are scheduled for any medical or dental procedure, tell your healthcare provider that you are taking this supplement. You may need to stop taking this supplement before the procedure. Herbal or dietary supplements are not regulated like medicines. Rigid quality control standards are not required for dietary supplements. The purity and strength of these products can vary. The safety and effect of this dietary supplement for a certain disease or illness is not well known. This product is not intended to diagnose, treat, cure or prevent any disease. The Food and Drug Administration suggests the following to help consumers protect themselves: Always read product labels and follow directions. Natural does not mean a product is safe for humans to take. Look for products that include USP after the ingredient name. This means that the manufacturer followed the standards of the US Pharmacopoeia. Supplements made or sold by a nationally known food or drug company are more likely to be made under tight controls. You can write to the company for more information about how the product was made.
